

Professional Liability Insurance

For Certified Dental Assistants of British Columbia

Coverage that protects you

As a professional in the dental industry, there is always the possibility of a malpractice claim or lawsuit. Regardless of fault, it can be costly, time consuming, and affect your reputation in the dental industry. Professional liability insurance safeguards you in these situations. Have peace of mind knowing your personal assets are secure and your reputation protected.

My employer provides me with coverage — why do I need more?

Many employers offer professional liability programs, but can you be certain of what their policy covers? There is also the possibility that their coverage may have lapsed or reached its claim limit, leaving you financially exposed in the event of a claim. When you purchase a policy through Aon, you take control by having a clear view of what your policy includes and for how much.

If you do contract work after hours, volunteer or even provide casual advice to a friend or neighbour, your employer-paid policy may not cover you. This means you could be held financially liable for any work performed outside of your regular working hours. Purchasing an individual insurance policy also ensures that you get the dedicated advocacy and support should you face a claim or lawsuit. Aon's experts are here to help guide you through the process, and are focused on your needs first.
